

Marius Haldimann, Managing Director

Marius Haldimann, from Walkringen (BE), completed his studies at the Abendtechnikum (Bern School of Engineering) in 1998 as a mechanical engineer. In 1999, he moved to the USA, where he spent 36 months as a project manager and technical adviser in a subsidiary of a Swiss company. He went on to hold positions in Switzerland and Europe as a project manager and in key customer support in Asia (Japan and Korea). During these activities, he obtained a post-graduate degree in business administration as an industrial engineer with marketing as the area of specialisation. He undertook further training in quality and risk management after joining the Federal Mint as a project manager in November 2002. Finally, he was responsible for the entire technical area. As part of a succession plan, Marius Haldimann was appointed Managing Director of Swissmint on 1 July 2012. He is married and has a daughter and son.
